SUPPLEMENTAL FINAL REJECTION

Examiner's Note

1. The examiner has considered the Supplemental Amendment, filed 10-10-02, but not matched to the case before the final, mailed 1-17-03, was mailed. A new rejection and the restart for response to the supplemental final rejection is set forth.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 3. Claims 1-17, 37 and 39-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Uozumi (US 6,261,953) in further view of Omura (US 6,028,362), Berman (US 5,893,756) and Maeda (JP 11-016906).

Uozumi discloses the steps of:

forming a groove for wiring in a first insulating film formed on a semiconductor substrate;

successively forming a barrier layer and a conductive film over said first insulating film including the inside of said groove for wiring and removing said barrier layer and said conductive film form outside of said groove for wiring (2, 3 fig. 3A), thereby forming a wiring;

forming a cap conductive film (4, fig. 3A) on said wiring; and forming a second insulating film over said cap conductive film and said first insulating film (11, fig. 3A) (col. 7, ln.23 – col. 8, ln. 12).

Omura discloses the limitations the materials that are claimed for the cap conductive layer (60, fig. 15) and forming plug (52s, d, fig. 16) to the semiconductor device (col. 10, lns. 40-62 and col. 13, ln. 65 – col. 14, ln. 61), besides other features of the claimed device. Therefore it would have been obvious to combine Omura with Uozumi, because those materials are good oxidation preventing materials and conductive plugs provide for electrical contact for between devices.

Maeda discloses the limitation of selective growth of cap layer (11b, fig. 3(d)) on metal plug and Berman discloses the limitation for cleaning of a substrate surface (fig. 3) after contaminants are formed on insulator after each CMP process (col.4, Ins. 31-40). Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Omura and Uozumi with Maeda and Berman, because the selectively growing the cap layer would reduce process steps and the cleaning steps after the CMP of the each metal contacts remove unwanted contaminants in the dielectric layer.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-17, 37 and 39-58 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The applicant argues that the prior art of record does not disclose the cleaning of the insulator after each CMP is performed. The examiner Berman reference shows that it is well known to clean the surface of a substrate after CMP of a metal contact to remove contaminants in the dielectric layer. The examiner sees this as a process that will be done each time the metal plug is formed to keep the integrity of the dielectric.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
